first Citizens Report on Governance and Development, 2003, after assessing the policies on health, education and poverty alleviation in the context of globalisation that Government give a step motherly treatment to the social sectors and its policies making the already marginalized people victims of multidimensional deprivations; and

(b) if so, Government's reaction thereto and the measures taken to remedy the situation?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF SOCIAL JUSTICE AND EMPOWERMENT (SHRI NAGMANI): (a) and (b) Social Watch India Citizens Report on Governance and Development 2003 was published by Centre for Youth and Social Development, Bhubaneshwar and National Centre for Advocacy Studies, Pune. These are independent agencies and they have based their conclusions on their assessment of policies and programmes of the Union Government mainly with reference to the year, 2002. While the Government of India gives due consideration to all aspects of development, its sectoral allocation of resources is dependent on national priorities and availability of funds.
